PREFACE

A cumulative index to the Special Libraries Association, Geography and Map Division Bulletin has been needed for some time. This Index should be useful to map librarians, researchers, Division officers, and Bulletin editors. When I was editor of the Bulletin I felt this need and communicated the fact to Muriel Parry and Paula Strain during their incumbencies as Chairmen of the Division. Somewhere along the line I blithely volunteered to do the indexing job.

The indexing has been done sporadically, whenever time and inclination came together. My notes show that I began the work in 1968 and finished jotting down the citations in January 1969. The time between beginning and finishing the index was filled with a lot of personal and professional ups-and-downs, and full time attention to the task was never possible. My wife, Jeanette, assisted me in many ways not the least of which was the preliminary typing and re-typing of the manuscript. My thanks to her for the help and the patient understanding.

The Index is an in-depth work and lists book reviews, reviewers, and personal notes as well as listing the Bulletin articles by author, title, and subject. The Index is completely cross-referenced. News and affairs of the Division are also cited. The Bulletins from 1947 through 1967 may even be considered, by some, to be over-indexed. However, the fugitive information which is brought out with this indexing is the matrix of Division history. One may, with this Index, follow the careers of the Division members who helped to shape this special branch of librarianship, and may plot the hills and valleys of Division affairs.

There are about 6,000 entries in the following pages. The Bulletin articles are listed by author, title, series, and are cross-referenced by subject. In the citations, the issue number appears first and is separated from the page reference by a colon. The main entry for the books which are reviewed is the author entry wherein the full name is cited; under title entry the authors are listed by last name, or to their secondary fullness. The names of reviewers are included with these entries.

The final test of any index is the use which is made of it by students, researchers, and librarians. If my work has made the information contained in the twenty-year file of Bulletins more readily accessible then I have achieved my goal. I will be interested in hearing from users of this index -- whether they be overjoyed or underjoyed!
